Barack Obama Rallies Support for Stabenow in Detroit

Detroit – U.S. Senator Barack Obama today rallied support for colleague Senator Debbie Stabenow at the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Local 58 in downtown Detroit. Obama offered a first-hand account of how Debbie Stabenow works everyday to deliver results for Michigan and praised her laser-like focus on creating good-paying American jobs in the U.S. Senate.

“From the war in Iraq, to the thousands of jobs going overseas, to our broken health care system, the American people have had enough of the way President Bush and the Republican Congress have lead our country” Obama said. “We need people in the Senate like Debbie Stabenow who aren't afraid to stand up to this misguided leadership and deliver for the people she was elected to represent. Every decision she makes has the best interests of Michigan in mind, and she consistently delivers results. There is no stronger advocate for Michigan than Debbie Stabenow.”

“I am grateful for his support, and I am grateful for the support of the people of Michigan,” said Stabenow. “Senator Obama understands that there is a clear choice in this election between someone who supports the failed economic polices of the Bush Administration and a leader who delivers real results everyday for for Michigan workers and their families.”

Governor Jennifer Granholm, Lt. Governor John Cherry, U.S. Representatives Carolyn Cheeks Kilpatrick and John Conyers, and local officials and labor leaders joined the senators at the rally.
