Stabenow for Senate Releases New Television Ad “Michigan Way of Life” to Hit the Airwaves

Lansing—Senator Debbie Stabenow today unveiled the second television ad of her 2006 re-election campaign, entitled “Michigan Way of Life.” In the ad, Senator Stabenow discusses her commitment to getting the job done on issues that are essential to our Michigan way of life—creating good paying jobs here at home, lowering the cost of college tuition and protecting our Great Lakes and tourism jobs around them.

Michigan Way of Life:

“Our economy is changing, but we've got great things going for us in Michigan.

“Our workers can compete with anyone.

“To build our economy I've reached across party lines to pass tax cuts to create jobs here, to lower college tuition, and to protect the Great Lakes so tourism can thrive.

”This isn't about Republicans and Democrats, it's about our Michigan way of life and I'm fighting for it everyday.

“I'm Debbie Stabenow and I approve this message.”

END AD TEXT

“This isn't about a choice between Republican and Democrat, it is about a choice in directions, and the people of Michigan have two clear options in front of them,” said Stabenow Spokesperson Brent Colburn said discussing the new ad. “On one hand, they have a Senator who stands up and delivers for the issues that matter to Michigan, like protecting good paying jobs, making health care more accessible and affordable, and ensuring that education is a real priority. On the other hand, they have someone who supports the tired and failed policies of the Bush administration that cost us jobs, led to record deficits and threaten our way of life.”
